

79. International Lauberhornrennen Audi Fis Ski World Cup

Super Combined

Winner: Carlo Janka (SUI)

I didnt know if I could defend my second position after the downhill. In the slalom, I even improved it and that makes this victory even sweeter. I'm happy to be able to confirme my kind of "surprise victory" from the giant slalom in Val d'Isere. In the slalom I just went in it relaxed just wanting to show what I'm capable in training. I could hear the people all along the course rooting for me and that just gave me wings. I'm definitely a giant slalom skier, trying to improve in the speed disciplines, wanting to work more on my slalom in the months to come. I was very proud to see my result in the downhill leaving behind the Millers, Cuches etc...knowing that I had some trouble skiing over the Minsch Kante gives me some great hopes for tomorrow int the real downhill.

SECOND: Peter Fill (ITA)

I love coming to switzerland to these races. The people here are knowledgeable and love our sport. Adelboden is great but I have a special relationship with the downhill here in Wengen. I love it because it's a bit "oldfashion" and from the day I first came here I have been a bit lucky and have had good results. It's a great feeling to be between 2 Swiss skiers on the podium , it makes it that more fun as we are in Swizerland.

THIRD: Silvan Zurbriggen (SUI)

I really wanted this podium placing after coming back from a bad injury last year at Val gardena, it's a great feeling, it just warms my heart. I have to take it day by day because after Alta Badia I had back problems and that was a slap in the face: I had to go back to the physio just like after the first training run in Beaver Creek. Then it was too much for my knee which got swollen with fluid. I'm feeling one hundred per cent now and touch wood, it would be great to continue this way.I need more time in downhill to get better, in slalom I need a better start number and yes maybe after 5 podium placings maybe the Super combined could be the discipline that could be my first win on the World Cup.

END

HSS/ 16.01.2009